BRANDON & BARKSDALE, PROP'S.

One More Important State Office to Fill.

The Democratic State convention failed to perform one duty before adjournment, and rather than call an extra session, the State Wheel, at its coming annual meeting, August 12, should perform that duty for the sake of Mr. Buchanan, and that is elect a State fool killer to do up the cranks that can't be happy in the enjoyment of a victorious triumph, but must kick the fat in the fire by trying to do some smart thing, dragging in obnoxious and whimsical side issues, forcing candidates to express themselves for or against the tomfool sub-treasury bill and the like, and threatening to retire our ablest and most trusted Congressmen, who are honest and outspoken against such a wild and ruinous scheme, and will accept retirement rather than stultify honest conscience.

Mr. Buchanan has been nominated on a broad Democratic platform, embracing every principle and demanding all the legislation that any reasonable farmer could ask for. Mr. Buchanan's friends made the platform and purposely left out all subterfuges. Mr. Buchanan, as a representative of the farmer element, accepted that platform and stands upon it. Merchants, lawyers and all classes, as well as farmers, are rallying to his support on it. Mr. Buchanan himself, though having advocated the force bill as the national union platform, repudiated the measure before his nomination, after its weakness and danger had been so thoroughly exposed by our purest and best statesmen. More than half of the Alliance men in the State are opposed to it. Some of the most prominent delegates from this State to the St. Louis convention opposed and voted against its adoption. Now will the organization, after winning so great a victory in the State convention, allow a lot of cranks to destroy the harmony that pervades the entire ranks, the good feeling that is crystallizing around the candidate, and hazard Mr. Buchanan's chances of election by continuing the agitation of such a measure? We would urge the State Wheel to renounce the measure and elect a fool killer.

"A Booted and Spurred Highwayman."
Senator Vest of Missouri closing his masterly speech against the iniquities of the McKinley tariff bill, said:

"The Bastille had frowned in dark and somber terror upon the populace of Paris, white king and courtier, philosopher and patriot passed away. It seemed eternal; but at last it fell, and the nightmare of the ages ended. Americans boasted of their free institutions, of liberty and equality; but, who (he asked) could call himself a freeman, save in mockery, when, by force of law, the proceeds of his life and labor were unjustly taken to enrich another? The struggle for human rights was not ended; nor could it be until the unequal and the unjust system of taxation, which (now with the mask of protection) rode like a booted and spurred highwayman over the country and trampled under foot an enraged people.

The tempters took him by the arm and led him up the marble stairway into the great hall, and though he pulled back declaring he would have nothing to do with the infamous thing, when he reached the speaker's stand and met the smiles of Stanton Hook who commanded, "hold up thy head and look out upon this vast variegated audience, and accept, and all of these will follow thee and shall be thine and a crown of honor shall compass thy brow," Lewis wilted and accepted.

What do the people of Montgomery county, white and black, think of the delegates who went to the Republican Convention and voted to endorse the infamous Lodge force bill which proposes to destroy that peace, good feeling and freedom of ballot that exists here between the races? Ignorance is the only excuse they can plead and we are glad there were not more than two white men in the delegation.

Hook, Evans and Alf. Taylor came all the way from Washington to Nashville to have the Republican Convention endorse the infamous force bill. If there is any self-respect left in the people of East Tennessee, they will forever retire these "contemptible, treasonable, atrocious assassins."

The LEAF-CHRONICLE is indebted to B. A. Enloe for a copy of his great speech against the infamous force bill. There are few able, workers in Congress than Mr. Enloe, and sincerely anyone whom the Republicans hate more cordially.

Hook, Taylor and Evans may have succeeded in bracing Baxter's spinal column, but they also dropped a spider in his dumpling.

Grand Annual Excursion

To the seashore via L. & N. and C. & O. routes. White Sulphur Springs, Richmond, Old Point and Norfolk visited en route. A special train composed of elegant coaches and Pullman sleeping cars, will leave Louisville at 12:35 p. m. on Tuesday, August 12th, 1890, reaching Old Point Comfort next evening at 8 p. m. The round trip rates to Old Point are only $16.00 from Clarksville. Passengers will leave on regular train leaving Clarksville at 5:35.

The train will run under the auspices of the Chesapeake & Ohio R. Y. Company, in charge of Mr. W. A. Wilgus, traveling passenger agent, formerly of Hopkinsville, Ky. Reduced rates at the Hygeia Hotel, Old Point Comfort, can be secured upon presentation of C. & O. special excursion tickets.

Special attention will be paid to ladies without escorts. Sleeping car accommodations will be provided, but in order to have choice of berths, application should be made to W. A. Wilgus, 253 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky., at once. Sleeping car rates will be $4.00 for berth, Louisville to Old Point, to be occupied by one or two persons; Louisville to Clifton Forge $2.50, to be occupied by one or two persons.

Special side trip excursions can be made from Old Point at low rates. Stop over privileges will be granted on the return trip, enabling excursionists to visit Richmond, White Sulphur Springs, and other celebrated resorts.

The choice of routes between Richmond and Clifton Forge will be given. Excursionists may return either via Charlottesville and Staunton, or via Lynchburg and Natural Bridge along the James river.

Tickets will be good returning until September 3, 1890. Handsome book descriptive of scenery along the line will be mailed to any person upon application to W. A. Wilgus, 253 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky., or to Agent L. & N. R. R.

The Cause of Poor Health

Is often found in the neglect of one's own self. A light cold or slight headache is treated as not requiring much attention; the assumption being that they will soon pass off, and it is only when a case of full-fledged sickness develops itself that the consequences of that neglect are fully realized. As a preventive and positive cure for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood, Asthma, Pains in the Chest and first stages of consumption, use Eiler's Extract of Tar and Wild Cherry, and for sick Headache, Torpid Liver, Dyspepsia, Nervousness and all Bilious Complaints, use Eiler's Daylight Liver Pills. Both are guaranteed.

This Woman Was a Good Traveler.

One morning recently Mrs. Charles Pennyacker completed her arrangements for a trip to visit her son in Chicago, and went to Philadelphia to secure her place on the train. Station Agent McMichael, of West Chester, just at her request telegraphed to Philadelphia the previous evening before 6 o'clock to have reserved for her a berth in the middle section on the New York and Chicago limited express, so Mrs. Pennyacker, on reaching the Broad Street station, went to the ticket agent and asked for her ticket to Chicago on the limited. She was greatly surprised when the ticket agent said: "I can't sell you a ticket for that train. Every place is taken, and you'll have to wait until to-morrow." In vain she tried to get him to sell her the ticket. She had telegraphed the previous evening and secured her berth; the agent had received no such message, the record was not on his books, and no section had been saved. Mrs. Pennyacker had no idea of giving up yet, so she went to the Pullman office, stated her case, and found that the West Chester message had been received from West Chester, and there seemed to be no way by which she could secure her rights and go her way that day.

But this plucky West Chester lady was not yet discouraged, and determined to sift the matter to its source that the blame might rest on the proper shoulders. So returning to the ticket office she inquired for the telegraph office, and being directed to the third floor she ascended to it, accompanied by the friend with whom she had gone to the city. There she asked again if Mr. McMichael's message of the previous evening had been received, and again she was given a negative reply by the young man after he had examined his books.

"Let me see your book, please," said Mrs. Pennyacker. "A woman can always do things better than a man. The operator politely handed her the book, and the lady was not slow in finding the following record: "Save lower berth, middle section, on New York and Chicago limited to-morrow for Mrs. Charles H. Pennyacker, West Chester. (Signed) W. A. M." Having found the discovery to the operator, she requested him to give her a copy of the same. The young man did so, and thus for the first time the message from West Chester left the room in which it had been received.

Mrs. Pennyacker carried it down to the ticket agent and again demanded her berth. Further parley and a refusal of a berth in an end section resulted in a telegram being sent to New York, by which an upper berth in the middle section was secured, and after the lady had secured her ticket and had her trunk checked she waited the coming of her train with a feeling of satisfaction, and congratulated herself on having reached the city by an early train, as otherwise the delay she had been obliged to undergo would have caused her to miss the train. — West Chester (Pa.)
